

The Milwaukee Veterinary Medical Association invites all DVM's and CVT's to a continuing education seminar:

Digital Radiography: Past, Present & Future

Digital radiography was brought to the imaging market in the early 1980s. Since that time the increasing power of computers and the advent of micro-electronics have allowed the development of faster, high resolution imaging systems. Recent research in software design has brought about the development of new, unique digital imaging applications. At the conclusion of this presentation, the attendee will be able to:

- Discuss the three methods of creating a digital radiograph.
- Understand the analog and digital imaging chain.
- Identify the advantages of digital imaging versus analog imaging.
- Appreciate the advanced applications for digital radiography.

Presented by: Thomas Hanson, DVM, MS
Practice Limited to Diagnostic Imaging
Wisconsin Veterinary Referral Center

Dr. Hanson received his DVM from St. George's University and completed a clinical year at Auburn University College of Veterinary Medicine and his radiology residency at University of Missouri College of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Hanson also has his MS degree in management from Cardinal Stritch University. Dr. Hanson completed a small animal internship at VCA Animal Hospital in Aurora, IL with rotations in multiple specialties. In addition, Dr. Hanson has 15 years of experience in human radiology as a technologist, manager, and PACS manger as well as 17 years of experience at GE Healthcare in customer training and product development. Affiliations: ACVR, AVMA, ARRT. Professional Interests: Expanding the use of CT in veterinary medicine.

DATE: Tuesday, January 9, 2018

RSVP: Please email name(s), clinic and number of attendees by Thursday, January 4, 2018 to rsvp4mvma@aol.com.

LOCATION: Wisconsin Humane Society
4500 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, WI, (414)264-6257

TIME: Registration and dinner 6:30 pm, presentation begins at 7:00 pm

SPONSOR: Milwaukee Veterinary Medical Association

This invitation is for DVM's and CVT's! 1.2 CE credit will be provided. We will be accepting 2018 dues payments.

Please visit our association's website for news, membership application, and information related to future CE events at www.southeasternwiscdvm.org.