

MVMA

The Milwaukee Veterinary Medical Association invites all DVM's and CVT's to:

Flea Control: Expectations and Reality

A variety of flea control options are available today and the ease of use and efficacy is vastly better than what was available 20 years ago. So why are some clients still dissatisfied? In this talk we will look at flea biology, product mode of action, and how the combination of those two will sometimes lead to the impression that a product isn't working. Armed with this knowledge we have a better chance of giving clients the appropriate expectations for flea control results.

Presented by:

Ed Loebach, DVM, DABVP (canine/feline)
Technical Service Veterinarian for Merial, Ltd

DATE: Tuesday, May 12, 2015

LOCATION: Wisconsin Humane Society
4500 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee, WI

TIME: 6:30 p.m. registration & dinner, 7:00 p.m. presentation

SPONSOR:

Merial Field Veterinary Services - To provide medical and management expertise to Merial and the veterinary community through education and support.

RSVP: Email name, clinic and number of attendees to rsvp4mvma@aol.com by Thursday, May 7.

1.2 CE credits will be provided.

There are no notes however the paper that will be discussed in the talk is available on our web site www.southeasternwiscdvm.org. Info on future meetings can also be found there.